The Mission of Flight

Help scalable startups in the Midwest showcase their work, connect with investors & cofounders, and boost their success rate through educational speaker tracks.

A Thank You

First, we would like to take a moment and thank you for taking the time to consider helping transform the hundreds of startup founders who will be in attendance at flight. The Launch League team is passionate about making flight an amazing and memorable experience for all who attend, and we are working tirelessly to make that dream a reality. We have very high expectations for the event, as do the founders, investors, professionals, and students who are planning to attend; however, none of this would be possible without the support from companies like you. After all, our sponsors are just as much a part of flight as anyone else.

Who You Will Reach (300+ CXO & Founder-level Professionals)

Average Launch League event attendee breakdown

- 45% Startup founders or early stage employees
- 25% Professional services professionals
- 12% Corporate attendees
- 10% College students
- 8% Other

The event is primarily B2B, both in that our attendees are themselves businesspeople looking for products and services for their companies and in that a subset of them are creating B2B services themselves. Whether they work for standalone startups or within an established company, our attendees are interested in solutions for starting and scaling their businesses. The event also draws a contingent of “pre-preneurs,” people who are not yet running a startup but are looking for resources to do so.

Our target audience falls into three main categories:

- Startup founders and early stage employees
- Angel investors, accelerators, and early stage venture capitalists
- Support service organizations (accountants, attorneys, consultants, etc.)

Geographically we will be drawing this target audience from the following metro areas:

- Akron Cleveland
- Columbus Cincinnati
- Pittsburgh Detroit

Why Sponsor

An opportunity to recruit:

This event is not for everyone. Only the most passionate, driven people who are building world changing companies make time in their busy schedules to participate in flight2016. These people are the ones you need working at your company.

An opportunity to network:

We are inviting the Midwest's most prominent tech, investor, and business leaders to flight 2016. We have built in multiple opportunities for attendees and sponsors to network, e.g. the VIP party the night before, multiple times throughout the event, and at the after party that Friday night. Whether you are a startup or a Fortune 50 corporation, we can help expand your circle of influence and help you develop lasting relationships.

A positive brand image in the startup community:

Unlike most advertising campaigns, flight2016 provides an interactive environment for organizations to connect with their key audiences. The result is a more intimate relationship that helps differentiate your brand.

Reach a targeted audience looking for solutions:

We are lucky to have a diverse mixture of attendees, the vast majority of whom are directly involved in purchase decisions at their organization.

Event Structure

Flight's structure is a multi-track speaker event where attendees will meet and learn from accomplished professionals in the following disciplines

- Front end development
- DevOps
- Design, UX/UI
- Hardware development
- Marketing
- Startup operations
- Investing and fundraising

During the event, aside from the breakout tracks listed above, we will have a number of startups and support organizations exhibitors showcasing their firms that attendees will have specific times to peruse.

Event Dates

The event will be bookended by two networking events, the first of which is a VIP cocktail hour for speakers, certain sponsors (dependent on sponsor level), and specific attendees. The second event is a larger scale event open to speakers, sponsors, and the majority of attendees.

Thursday December First: VIP Cocktail Hour (7pm-11pm)

Friday December Second: Content Tracks (8am-5pm)

Friday December Second: Dinner & After-party (5pm-midnight)
